

Nicolaus Copernicus was born on February 19th, 1473 in Torun, Poland. Copernicus was a proponent of the theory that the Sun, and not the Earth, is at the center of the Universe.

In the past...

Around 1514 Copernicus, the famous scientist distributed a little book, not printed but hand written, in which he wrote the following sentence: there is no one centre in the universe.

...now

after 500 years a courageous team of women and men decided to gain understanding of the deep significance behind this sentence.

Step by step

In the same little book he also said
: the Earth's centre is not the centre of the universe but, as the Euracademians thought it is the Euracademy that is really the centre of the universe.

Another sentence

The third was The centre of the universe is near the sun. So they decided to go to the nearest place to the sun: Torun.

*After study tours, network meetings, lectures and so on and on and on...
finally our Heroes and Heroins understand the deep significance of the Copernicus statement.*

If there is no one centre in the universe so there is also no single solution of the troubles of European farmers but they could begin with...
